12 DECEMBER 2007

DictateNow increase market share with acquisition of Solscribe Ltd digital dictation business.

DictateNow has today announced that it has acquired Solscribe Ltd's digital dictation business.

Solscribe Ltd had established itself over the past year primarily in the Midlands and North of England, with a presence also in London and the SE, with a number of prestigious law and property firms.

DictateNow and Solscribe have built a strong business relationship over the past year, with integrated systems which allowed DictateNow to provide Solscribe a fully automated typing overflow and backup service.

Solscribe Managing Director Michael Rodden said "This is a very positive move for our clients. They now benefit from the support and service of DictateNow -the UK's leading outsourcing business".

DictateNow has already started migrating across Solscribe clients. For all clients, this will be a seamless exercise, made easier by DictateNow having recently becoming an nFlow partner.

DictateNow, one of the UK's leaders in digital dictation outsourcing, operates a 7/day week 45 minute turnaround dictation outsourcing service, employing in excess of 100 UK based legal secretaries. 92% of DictateNow's clients are Law firms (in excess of 400 firms). The remaining 8% are mainly Members of Parliament and property firms.
